

Machine learning is an alternative approach to plan grasps. Current methods show that it is preferable to learn grasp quality functions and optimize them at the runtime [2], [4]–[11]. However, sampling or optimization makes the algorithm time-consuming and requires pre-defined heuristics. Other

