

Educating the Next Chinese Business Leaders

MBA

Beijing is wooing masters students with easier access to work permits

Tim Hesler, a recent graduate of the Tsinghua-MIT Global MBA programme

YESTERDAY by Ian Wylie

guanxi

By studying for an MBA at a Chinese business school, overseas students hope to acquire not only the necessary business skills, but also the networks and language proficiency they will need for a successful career in China

guanxi

Jeff Pi graduated from Ceibs with an MBA in 2009

Rory Bate-Williams graduated with an MBA from Cheung Kong Graduate School of Business

Copyright The Financial Times Limited 2017. All rights reserved. You may share using our article tools. Please don't copy articles from FT.com and redistribute by email or post to the web.